

GIRLS' BALL TEAM ENTERS TOURNAMENT

Millionaire Kids Will Play in Examiner
Eliminations

Hovey Cook's Covina girls' night ball team, the Millionaire Kids, will be one of the eight clubs entered in the southern California girls' softball tournament to be sponsored by the Los Angeles Examiner starting September 7, immediately following the men's tournament, which begins September 4 and which will also have a Covina entry under the management of Bob Tallman.

As a flattering indication of the renown won by the Millionaire Kids, this club was the first one mentioned by Mark Kelly and Matt Gallagher at the meeting in Los Angeles, when the plans for the two tournaments were being arranged by the Examiner and associated newspapers in southern California.

"The playing and team work of the Covina girls gave me the surprise of my life when I saw them play at Baldwin Park last fall," Kelly said, "and I made up my mind then that the girls should have a tournament of their own this year. Those girls certainly know how to play the game and played it."

Cook, in a statement to a representative of the Argus this week, stated that he expects his girls to come off with the honors. "They are playing better ball than they have ever played," he said, "and because they have been together for so long they have perfect team cooperation, which will go a long way in a tournament of this kind."

"Having played against all kinds of teams, the girls will not be affected by stage fright, and the harder the opposition is the better they like it. They play like clockwork when they are up against a team of their own class, and I am not at all worried about what they will do in this tournament. I am mighty glad the Argus has entered them and we are going to do our best to let southern California hear from Covina."

Bob Tallman's team is making progress every day, and while the rule barring all league players cost him some of his star players, he has been able to replace them with amateurs, as required by the tournament rules. The Spottswood boys have also been released, as they live in Pomona and will play on their home town team. It should be noted that in the finals, Bob is taking his team to La Verne tonight (Friday) for a test of his new lineup, and will probably play in Covina next week.

Nearly one thousand teams in all parts of southern California are now fighting for a place among the thirty-two teams to be lined up in the final playoff, which will end in Wrigley field. The Los Angeles city eliminations will start next week to determine which clubs will represent the metropolis. Practically all of these teams have had the same difficulty of replacing players who have been signed up with the National or American leagues in 1934 or 1935, putting them on an equal footing with the clubs from the out-of-town districts.

A complete list of all players must be in the hands of Matt Gallagher of the Examiner sports department by August 20, copies of these lists to be sent later to the sponsors of the thirty-two competing teams.

Farm Bureau Units Hold Meeting

A joint meeting of the Citrus farm bureau center and the San Antonio farm bureau center was held Wednesday evening at the local grammar school auditorium. J. J. Duemel, dean of law and utilities of the farm bureau department, was the speaker on the plans submitted by the Los Angeles bureau of power and light dealing with the Metropolitan conduit and power line. The auditorium was well filled with real estate owners whose property would be jeopardized by the proposed line.

Walnut Harvesting to Be Discussed at Growers' Gathering

A general discussion of all phases of walnut harvesting will be the subject of a meeting called by the Puente-West Covina farm bureau group, in cooperation with the agricultural extension service of Los Angeles county, which will be held Wednesday, August 21, at 2 p. m., on the J. C. Pearson property, Merced avenue, one-half mile east of Glendora road, West Covina.

This statement comes from W. R. Stanton, manager of La Puente Valley Walnut Growers association, in conversation with M. H. Kimball, assistant farm advisor.

"It has been some time," states Mr. Stanton, "since we have gone into all phases of harvesting at one of these meetings, a good deal of time being devoted the past year or two to such new developments as ethylene gas and its uses. Of course, ethylene gas will be discussed at this meeting also, but such things as early shelling, frequent pickings, care of a small percentage of stick-tights, such as normal harvest produce, will also be included."

Increased Sales of Oranges Send Prices Lower

With increased sales of southern California oranges on the eastern auction markets, the price dropped off 12 cents a box to an average for the past week of $2.27 a box, while lemons, with decreased shipments, gained 14 cents a box for an average price of $5.27.

Orange sales increased 72 cars to a total of 712, while lemon shipments were off 32 cars to 296.

The growers' advisory committee of the California-Arizona marketing agreement has allocated this week's shipments as follows: 1175 cars of southern California valencias (packed); 125 cars of southern California valencias (loose); five cars central California grapefruit; 90 cars southern California grapefruit.

Citrus fruits still meet with heavy competition from deciduous fruits and melons. Peach shipments, in particular, broke a long-time record. The strike in New York also is said to have hurt citrus sales.

The California Fruit Growers Exchange commented as follows: "The orange market showed further decline on extremely small sizes, but remained steady on the medium to large sizes during the past week. The volume of sales will exceed the total sales last week and there is every indication that the prevailing market level will continue for another week."

"The lemon market continues strong through the middle west and south under favorable weather conditions. The weather along the east coast is somewhat cooler, resulting in lower prices. Volume of sales and price are quite satisfactory."

Baptist Pastor at Idyllwild Camp

For the third successive year, V. C. Hayman, pastor of the Baptist church, is spending the summer at the Idyllwild camp of the Baptist church of Riverside, of which Dr. W. W. Catherwood (formerly of Covina) is pastor. This camp usually has between 100 and 150 in attendance, and this year will meet from August 13-22. Ruth, a daughter of Mr. Hayman's, will accompany him to Idyllwild this year.

The course of study selected by the pastor in teaching will be "The Art of Living" and "The Theme of the Camp" being "Living for Jesus."

The Haymans spent last week in the Berry cabin at Lake Arrowhead.

New Cornet Store to Open Soon

The announcement of the reopening of the Cornet 5, 10 and 25-cent store will be made next week, according to Joe Cornet, owner of the store. The building formerly occupied by the Alpha Beta market has been completely remodeled, with full plate glass in both the rear and front, making it one of the lightest store rooms in the city. New counters and shelving have been built and the finishing touches are now being made preparatory to placing the new stock for the opening.

Pastor's Party Home From Eastern Trip

Earle and the latter's brother, Harold Hendricks, and daughter, Jane Anne, of Santa Ana returned to their homes on Saturday evening after a month's motor trip spent in Danville, Indiana, where they were visitors in the home of Mrs. Earle's and Mr. Hendricks' mother, Mrs. E. P. Hendricks.

During their visit another daughter, Mrs. Paul De Verder, and family of Baytown, Texas, arrived for a family reunion. Mr. Earle stated that in the entire trip of six thousand miles only one hundred miles were traveled over poor roads.

SCHOOL BONDS FOR DISTRICTS TOTAL $232,000

County Auditor Gives
Report on Bonded
Indebtedness

Bonds to the value of $88,000 still remain outstanding against the taxpayers of the Covina city elementary school district, according to the latest report on the county's bonded indebtedness, compiled by the county auditor.

The report shows that the total value of the bonds issued against the school district to be $170,000, and of this total, $82,000 has been retired. All figures in the report are as of last January 1.

Bonded indebtedness figures for some of the other elementary school districts are as follows:

District	Issued	Balance
Baldwin Park	$150,500	$100,500
Charter Oak	70,000	29,000
Bassett	51,500	32,000
Azusa	170,000	94,000

In the Covina union high school district, bonds are outstanding to the amount of $140,000, the report discloses. Total amount of the bonds issued by the district is given as $200,000, with $60,000 retired, leaving $140,000 still to be met.

Through the county, total bonded indebtedness against all elementary, high and junior college districts is more than it was a year ago, due mainly to the necessity of obtaining funds to reconstruct school buildings. Total bonds outstanding against all school and junior college districts amount to $36,481,320, as compared with $36,423,876 a year ago. As of the beginning of 1933 the total was more than $100,000,000.

Grand total of all bonds issued against school and junior college districts is given as $137,661,750, of which only $100,000 is chargeable to junior college districts. A total of $41,180,430 in bonds has been retired.

Ball Team to Play at Pomona Tonight

Tonight (Friday) the Merchants' ball team is to play Pomona on the latter's diamond, and members of the American Legion, sponsors of the local league entry, are anxious to have a large crowd of rooters attend. At the last Covina-Pomona game, held here, a large number of Pomona fans attended, and it is felt that it was their enthusiasm in rooting that enabled the visiting team to take the close contest.

This is the last time these teams meet in the second round of league play, and with the improved style of play of the local team, Covina should have a strong chance of winning.

Tuesday night Covina goes to San Bernardino to meet the team of that city. Covina still has a chance to tie the second round of league play, or could win. The next home game will be with Arlington, on the 23rd.

Former Resident Called by Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth L. Hendricks, who for the past several years has made her home at 164 Baldwin avenue in Baldwin park, were conducted on Tuesday at the Baldwin park funeral home. Mrs. Hendricks passed away at the Covina hospital following a lingering illness.

The deceased was born on August 11, 1879, and for many years was a resident of Covina, making her home on Ben Lomond avenue. For some years Mrs. Hendricks has conducted a rest home at her home address, but because of ill health was forced to give up the work.

OPPOSITION TO POWER ROUTE TO CONTINUE

Property Owners Say
They Are Standing
Pat in Fight

The fight against the building of the power line of the Los Angeles municipal bureau of power and light thru the foothills and north of Covina will not be dropped, according to W. A. Jones, whose ranch property is crossed by the proposed route.

The San Gabriel Valley Defense committee will continue the protest and will take its objection into court thru its secretary, J. D. Johnson of Claremont. The Claremont city council has made an appropriation of $1500 and other communities and individuals have contributed to the defense fund.

The department of water and power, in a lengthy statement signed by John R. Haynes, president of the board of commissioners, and E. F. Scattergood, chief electrical engineer and general manager of the bureau of power and light, reviewed the situation which developed after property owners and others along the proposed route protested; cited added expense and other arguments against adoption of alternate routes; denied the line would materially affect development in residence areas, or that it would constitute a fire hazard; concluded:

"Therefore, on the fifth day of July, 1935, the San Gabriel Valley Defense committee was informed, in writing, that the board, the chief electrical engineer and general manager, and officers of this department consider further conferences useless and the matter closed and that the department will at once resume negotiations for purchase of rights of way and the construction of the line as originally proposed."

Johnson has declared that "property owners along the foothill route are standing pat; the bureau is having but little luck negotiating purchases of rights of way," and the bureau has secured options on only a few parcels of property between the county line and the vicinity of Baldwin Park. Property owners generally along the route, Johnson said, are far from satisfied with the bureau's offers for rights of way thru what they consider highly valuable potential high class residential property.

Citrus Avenue Gets New Surface Coat During Week

Resurfacing of Citrus avenue from the southern to the northern limits was started Monday morning under the direction of Glenn Crawford, assistant city engineer, the work being done with funds provided by the county and without cost to the city. County road equipment, manned by county employees, is being used for the resurfacing, with SERRA labor being used in chipping the surface of the old pavement and making it ready for the new coating. The business section of Citrus avenue was closed to traffic Wednesday and the pavement was given a final rolling Thursday morning.

Resurfacing of the street to the northern limits, halfway between the Southern Pacific tracks and Cypress avenue, will be completed this week.

Scouts Entertained at Picnic Party

Hubert Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Allen of Charter Oak avenue, entertained on Tuesday evening with a swim and picnic supper party for the members of the Scout patrol of which he is the leader. His guests were Bob Bugber, Melvin Leir, Reynold Masters, Allen O'Connor, Jack Geoffrey, Ellsworth Heidrich, and Harold Jobe.

Hubert, who was to have been sent by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange to the Scout jamboree at Washington, D. C., which trip has been postponed due to an infantile paralysis epidemic in the capital, will leave with the other Scouts today for encampment at Yellowstone park and a tour of the national parks in the western area and in Canada.

Store Employees Win Trip to Exposition

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Campbell, J. A. Sommercamp and Bob Tallman will attend the San Diego exposition with all expenses paid, in addition to receiving full salaries while they are gone, as the result of the Covina store of the Alpha Beta markets winning second place in the sales contest put on some time ago in which all of the company markets in southern California took part, Covina being the "dark horse" in the contest, jumping from one of the lowest positions in the early part of the contest to second place during the last two weeks.

Water Pageant to Be Held Tonight

A colorful water pageant under the auspices of the Covina recreation department will be held this (Friday) afternoon at the municipal pool at the city park. Mary Rafferty, recreation director, will be in charge of the program, assisted by workers from the Los Angeles county department of recreation. The pageant feature of the program will be directed by Mrs. Gloria Woods of Los Angeles, assisted by Mrs. Margaret Zeller of Covina. The program will start at 7:45 and no admission fee will be charged.

Those participating in the pageant and program will be the Baldwin Park community church orchestra, directed by Frank Cover; Wallace Reed, violinist; Ralph Nye, soloist; John Caves, "voice of memory"; Mrs. Garold DeVol, water queen and swimmers, dancers, dragon, and Bud Drake as the hippo.

Valley Scouts Leave on Vacation Trip

Of the fifty Boy Scouts from the Pasadena-San Gabriel valley council who leave today on a vacation trip there are five from Covina, Charter Oak and Baldwin Park troops. They are Ellis Bosworth, Hubert Allen, Harold Jobe, Arthur Speer, and Malcolm Lincoln.

Tentative plans call for troops to leave Friday night for a five-day encampment at Yellowstone national park. Their next stop is to be Glacier national park, and from there to Seattle for a round trip by boat to Vancouver, B. C., returning here from Seattle by rail via San Francisco.

The previous itinerary, which included Washington, D. C., and the eastern states, was defeated by a vote of 196 to 85, proposition No. 2, to make whether the state should make short-term loans to cover its present deficit of $28,000,000, lost by 243 to 37, and proposition No. 3, the Rector dam project, was defeated by 225 to 54.

Scattered Showers Help Break Last Week's Heat Wave

Scattering showers thruout southern California broke the heat wave Monday, with a slight sprinkle in Covina Monday morning and a heavier rainfall reported in neighboring sections. The thermometer reached the highest point locally when it touched 101 degrees Friday afternoon, with a slight falling off Saturday and Sunday. Many long-time residents of Covina said that Friday night was the first time they had slept without blankets over them and the first time that evening had not brought cooling relief.

Beaches and mountain resorts reported record crowds over the weekend, many Covina families joining in the hunt for cooling atmosphere. The effects of the heat wave were felt in retail business, especially in markets. Several of the packing houses were closed during the hot afternoons and worked during the evening in order to take care of their shipments.

The United States weather bureau in Los Angeles reports that the heat wave has been broken, and while there will be continued warm days, there is no indication that the temperature will reach last week's high of 101.

Leonardys Return From Trip East to Visit Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. George Leonardys returned to their home the latter part of the week from a two-months' vacation spent in the eastern states. Illinois was their destination, where they visited with relatives and friends.

Enroute to Detroit Mr. and Mrs. Leonardys stopped for brief visits with Mr. Leonardys' sisters, Mrs. William Johns in La Salle, Mrs. Burton Taylor of Oglethorpe, and Mrs. W. Gibson, in Ottawa. The latter three, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Leonardys, then motored to Detroit, where they were guests of another sister, Mrs. Homer Williams. This was the first meeting of the family in twenty years.

From Detroit the travelers motored to Streeter, the former home of Mrs. Leonardys. Making their headquarters in this city for several days, in company with relatives they motored to the many points of historical interest in and around that area. Stopping for a few days in Chicago they were entertained in the home of Dr. Hoyt Cox of the Wesleyan hospital staff. Making a leisurely trip homeward they stopped for a few hours at Boulder dam.

Friends Gather to Bid Farewell to Francis White, Radio Singer

A large number of friends were on hand Sunday afternoon to bid farewell to Francis White, who left by plane from the Glendale airport for New York to fill an engagement with the Beauty Box theater production over the National broadcasting system. His first program will be this Friday evening, over KFI.

In a recent interview, Lawrence Tibbett, operatic and film star, paid this rising young artist a splendid compliment and remarked that he thought Miss White possessed the most beautiful voice on the radio today.

Miss White, the daughter of Phoebe A. White of the Ellis household, spent a two-weeks' vacation with her mother. She has recently renewed a contract with the NBC that will necessitate her residence in the east for some time.

Lawn Furniture Offered at Discount

Thrifty buyers who are interested in lawn furniture or swings are being offered an opportunity for material savings at the Sawyer Furniture company store this week. Prices are being reduced, according to R. L. Sawyer, in order to keep from carrying over these items to another season and to make room for new part of the store. Points of interest which they visited included San Francisco, Lake Tahoe, and the Lassen national park.

VOTERS JOIN IN DEFEATING PROPOSITIONS

Local Precincts Keep Step with State in Disapproval

All three propositions in the bond election Tuesday met defeat at the hands of voters of the state in one of the lightest votes cast at a California election many years.

Little interest was shown in the election in Covina and surrounding precincts, all three propositions, however, receiving strong negative votes, Covina city 281 votes in the six precincts. Proposition No. 1, to provide a $13,550,000 bond issue for enlarging and improving state institutions, was defeated by a vote of 196 to 85; proposition No. 2, to make whether the state should make short-term loans to cover its present deficit of $28,000,000, lost by 243 to 37, and proposition No. 3, the Rector dam project, was defeated by 225 to 54.

Toggery to Conduct "Beanie" Contest

With contests of all kinds sweeping the country, Covina is not an entry blank. The contest is open to all boys and girls under the age of sixteen years, and closes September 9. The major prizes are now on display in the windows of Potter's Toggery.

It's easy to make a "beanie"—all you have to do is to take an old felt hat, cut off the brim and let your imagination run riot for the most original designs and decorations that you can think of. Skill and originality may win one of these prizes: a nixskin football autographed by the All-American quarterback, "Cotton" Warburton; a championship tennis racket; a model airplane building set that makes a plane that actually flies.

All that is necessary is to go to Potter's store and fill out an entry blank. The contest is open to all boys and girls under the age of sixteen years, and closes September 9. The major prizes are now on display in the windows of Potter's Toggery.

Agricultural Men Wage "Trapping" War on Insects

"Trapping activities" are under way this week in Los Angeles county. "A" men invaded citrus orchards armed with special glass traps, and hung them in orange trees. The traps are baited with fluids that particularly attract fruit flies and other destructive pests. The trapping activities are carried on annually by the "A" men, or agricultural inspectors, who work as relentlessly as the "G" men.

A second line of defense to plant quarantine, the purpose of the work is to locate insect invasions before they have become too widely spread to be eradicated economically.

The traps, placed near cull dumps and in other key locations where recently introduced pests would be expected to first make their appearance, are visited twice each month by an agricultural inspector, who examines them for the presence of alien insect enemies.

Last summer, traps operated at 70 different locations in the county lured 276,000 insects, all of which, proved to be harmless or species already known to occur here, according to Kenneth L. Wolff, chief deputy agricultural commissioner in charge of insect pest survey. Wolff is a resident of San Fernando.

Information Given on Status of Building-Loan Certificates

Determined efforts to eliminate the confusion which at present surrounds the complex building and loan situation in California are making substantial headway, according to Paul Dwyer of Battelle, Dwyer & company.

Mr. Dwyer, whose firm has specialized in building and loan securities over a long period, has spent much time during recent months on an exhaustive survey of the problem.

More than $285,000,000 of the public's money is invested in building and loans in the state of California, and of this amount approximately $160,000,000 is represented by associations in southern California.

"Recent legislation and the statement of the building and loan commissioner that all associations having an undue amount of demands for withdrawals which they are unable to meet must reorganize within the next few weeks, is bringing action," Mr. Dwyer declares.

"Just how this action will affect the holders of various building and loan securities is a subject upon which it is impossible to generalize," he says.

Much information as to how holders of various securities of specific building and loan associations in southern California will be affected has been compiled for and is available to investors by Battelle, Dwyer & company.

Interest Increases in Ascot Races

Interest in automobile racing at the Legion Ascot speedway has come back with a rush with the defeat of Rex Mays, Pacific coast driving champion, in two out of three starts.

Mays was repeating his performances of last year, when he won 11 out of 13 feature events, but three weeks ago Al Gordon took him into camp. A week later Mays scored a win, but last Wednesday night Harris Insinger ran the champion ragged and won the main event after one of the hardest fought races of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beardsley and two children, Buddy and Joan, of East Badillo street and Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Martin of San Bernardino spent the latter part of the week at Holcomb valley, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hitchcock.

Delinquent Tax Payments Climb

Property owners in Covina and other parts of the county paid in nearly $1,000,000 to the county in delinquent taxes last month in order that they might still be property owners, the county auditor's office announced this week.

In the biggest July on record for delinquent payments, a total of 8220 payments were made, aggregating $927,333. This is nearly $200,000 in excess of the $733,151 paid in during July of last year, when only 7443 payments were made.

The moratorium on penalties expires September 1, according to T. E. Tanner, chief of the division of tax redemptions. The law applies to property sold to the state for taxes of 1933 or prior. Due to the short time remaining, the county is urging taxpayers to secure statements as soon as possible.

Man is not yet created. He is only in process. When you read history and find from what distance the race has come, and see what tremendous progress has been made, say within twenty-five years, one thinks of the future possibilities of Man with reverence and awe.

—Elbert Hubbard.

Home, Sweet Home—

Rev. Brubaker, returning from a year spent in foreign mission fields, expresses a deep regard for home, the Covina valley, its peace, security and relative prosperity.

There are many who return from cross-country trips who express the same thought, and it is not a mere courtesy or formula, as one might think. It's true that with all of us "there's no place like home," wherever it may be, but that is not the motivating sentiment behind these remarks of travelers returning to this valley. This is actually one of the fine spots of the earth, in climate, in people, in aims and desires. For years the Argus has carried a sentiment in description on the front page: "A city within an orchard paradise." That this also aptly describes many of our neighboring communities does not detract from its truth.

Father Junipero Serra, dedicating the Mission San Gabriel, spoke of the valley as "this lovely land." The desperate, starved pioneers that wound their weary way down from Cajon pass looked upon it and fell on their knees in thanksgiving. This valley has come to blossom with flowers and fruit, and a fine and courageous people have come to possess it. It is always, and always will be a welcome and heart-gripping sight to the wanderer from the valley, returning from distant lands.

The Reason—

Because ruthless murderers do often escape the rope thru the maze of the law, a crowd of citizens in California lynched the confessed killer of a California peace officer last week.

The lynching of Clyde Johnson at Yreka was not so much because he killed Policeman Jack Daw in a gun duel as the fact that, in that same area, two years ago, a similar killing took place, and the murderer is in Folsom, still dicker with the courts for his liberty.

While we all condemn lynching we still condone the lax parole system, and still tolerate a criminal procedure that in many cases makes a farce of justice.

Where Love Beckons—

A Covina valley boy, ten years old, without a penny, hitch-hiked to the General hospital, inquired his way around that maze of wards, and arrived at his mother's bedside. A Riverside doctor, visiting another patient, gave him a dollar and brought him home.

If love and real desire actuate us we will find ways of visiting the sick. But oh, how many obstacles present themselves, and how many excuses there are for those who begrudge the time and effort!

And do you think that you may some day be privileged to present such a magnificent gift as that wilted, bedraggled bunch of field flowers he gave into his mother's hand?

J. V. Ayers Tendered Farewell Honors

J. V. Ayers, director of the Baldwin Park band, who will leave August 20 for Washington, D. C., where he is to enter the Reed Brothers hospital for three months, was given a farewell ovation at Baldwin Park last Friday night by the members of the band, assisted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and troop 4 of the Boy Scouts.

Mr. Ayers, who was presented with a substantial purse as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the people of Baldwin Park and in appreciation of the work he has done with the band, expressed his regret in leaving the community where he has made so many friends, and thanked those who had been so loyal to him and to the band during his work there.

Mr. Crane, who will be the new director of the band, was present and made a few remarks, praising the work done by Mr. Ayers and pledging his efforts to continue the excellent showing. The band has a number of engagements ahead, among them being the McGroarty homecoming celebration at Brookfield park.

No Lack of Real Citrus Fruit Demand—

In entering foreign markets, the citrus shippers soon learn they must meet prices established by foreign competitors, or as nearly so as relates to quality and the attractiveness of the package.

But it is not actually the competition that forces this price, but the ability of the consumer to pay. This ability to pay is the overlooked factor in much of our merchandising today, and is only reluctantly recognized when purchasing power becomes so restricted as to draw sharp attention to it.

The American railroad system has come to grief because it based its revenue largely on the cynicism of charging "all the traffic will bear." Trade is like water; if impounded in one direction it will seek another outlet, and will keep constantly seeking. If oranges and lemons are priced above consumer ability to pay, the consumer turns to other fruit. There is no such thing apparent as yet as that of consumer saturation in citrus fruit. The trade has never been supplied with enough oranges and lemons to meet the demand. The demand is ever-present beyond the capacity of the fruit grower to supply it. But the price often effectually turns away this demand, even though we may boast of our cheap methods of marketing.

In all commodity selling the besetting sin is found in establishing high price and reaping large profits when there is a temporary high buying power.

There are few who have had the vision of Henry Ford or of Procter & Gamble, to maintain a low price level thruout the fluctuations of buying power, and to cheapen price as volume increases. But this is very sound merchandising.

We have heard too much about citrus fruit saturation points. We should hear more of prices adjusted to buying power, not only in times when buying power is low, but when it is receptive. When fish are hungry it is possible to catch a few with bare hooks, but any fisherman will tell you it is poor policy, because the fish will learn to keep away from hooks at all times. There isn't any consumer saturation point in sight as yet for citrus fruits. The problem is to get the fruit to the consumer consistently and constantly at a price that conforms with consumer capacity to pay.

Devoutly to Be Wished—

This writer asked a conservative, successful business man to declare what to him would be the most encouraging news concerning the future.

To know that business recovery would be very gradual and careful, he said. To know that every responsible man and woman in the country was of a determination to spend a little less than income. To know that no person was ever again to be granted loans on inflated values; to know that all stock gamblers were to be prosecuted as common thieves; to know that we were to establish a long-view old age and unemployment insurance; to know that we were to outlaw cut-throat competition; to know that we will never participate again in foreign wars; to know that the industrious are to be rewarded and protected instead of being robbed and exploited, and that integrity instead of cunning be given seats in finance and government. And these he asked, he said, in the name of One who laid down these precepts two thousand years ago.

Diplomatic Hand-Washing—

Those who would not trade with Russia until she paid her war debt fail to remember that there is no point to turning down a cash customer because he owes an old bill.

Under the new trade agreement signed last week, Russia is allowed to sell us furs, manganese and timber to the extent of thirty million dollars during the next twelve months. She must take our machinery and manufactured products in exchange. The amount is not much, but it will help a little.

Regardless of past irritations, all of which have been financial, we need a friendly Russia in the orient. If the truth could be had from diplomatic circles it is probable that the Japanese situation has as much to do with our recent trade agreement as has the desire to increase international trade.

WORDS EXPLANATIONS PROMISES ALL HAVE THEIR PLACE

But never has there been a place for them in the program of American Fruit Growers—a marketing organization serving hundreds of growers in the Southwest.

Theories alone will not, and do not, bring to the grower the things he must have from his selling agency. Actual results, actual success in practice, are the real measure of worth in the marketing organization you should choose to handle your fruits.

Shippers, both large and small, are invited to investigate the many advantages of marketing through AFG.

Franklin J. Cline Weds Jane Willson at Voorhis Chapel

In the quiet of the twilight hour on Saturday evening at the chapel of the Blessed Disciple at the Voorhis school, Franklin Joseph Cline, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Cline of East Badillo street, and Miss Jane Willson, daughter of Mrs. George Willson of La Jolla, were united in marriage with Rev. B. M. House of the Episcopal church reading the service.

The bride, a striking brunette, made a charming picture in her formal gown of white satin with long train, with which she wore a trailing veil made into style. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her only attendant was Miss Barbara Willson, sister, as maid of honor, who wore turquoise blue satin and carried Talisman roses.

Frederick Cline of Burlingame, brother of the groom, attended as best man, and William Miller of New York, cousin of the groom, Joe Ross, Robert Greyson and William Kent assisted as ushers.

Following the nuptials, which were witnessed by only intimate friends and relatives, a wedding dinner was served at the Canyon View guest ranch by the bride's mother.

Following a trip to San Francisco and vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Cline will return to Covina September 1 and will be at home at 405 Adams Park Drive.

The groom is a graduate of the college of commerce of the University of Southern California in 1932 and is affiliated with Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He also matriculated at the Institute of Technology for two years and is a member of Pi Alpha Tau fraternity.

Mrs. Cline is a graduate of Pomona college of 1932. She was active in college events, being a sponsor of the college, a member of the Val-kies, president of Harwood court, and secretary of the senior class.

Mrs. Ed Chambers of Juanita avenue was hostess on Wednesday at a swim and luncheon at her home for a number of former college mates of Pomona. Her guests were Mrs. A. Rogers of Santa Monica, Mrs. T. Taggart and two children of Palos Verdes, Mrs. M. Greathouse and three children of Claremont, Mrs. Kenneth Morgan of Hollywood, Mrs. Rex Ragan of Los Angeles, Mrs. J. Stoll and two children of Chicago, and Mrs. James Crew of Glendora. Movie reels of the afternoon activities were taken by Mrs. Morgan.

Ellen Beach Yaw to Be Honored at Exposition

San Diego, August 15.—Thousands of friends and admirers of Ellen Beach Yaw, noted international diva, are expected to pay homage Tuesday, August 20, at California-Pacific exposition, when a special day honoring the singer will be celebrated.

Madame Yaw will make appearances at two concerts that date in organ amphitheater, 2 and 7 p. m. Georgiella Lay will be the accompanist. The junior symphony orchestra, Frank Class, director, will take part. The prima donna whose interesting and effective songs are familiar to many concert patrons, will offer the following program: "Blue Danube Waltz" (Strauss), junior symphony orchestra. "Alleluia," sixteenth century (O'Connor Morris). "When Celia Sings," old English style (Moir O. Liebliche Wagen). Brahms' aria from "Les Noces de Jeanette" (Masse). "A Song of Love in June," (Guy d'Hardelot). "Joy" (Charles Wakefield Cadman). "The Skylark" (Ellen Beach Yaw). Scene and aria from "La Traviata" (Verdi). "Le Bonheur est Chose Leger," by Saint-Saens; violin obligato by William Farrell. "The Nightingale" (Saint-Saens). "Clementine" (Mary Carr Moore). "Swiss Wedding Song" (Emma Moore Seaman). "Tally-Ho," (Franco Leon). Theme and variations. "Procession of the Sardar," junior symphony orchestra.

In connection with special Ellen Beach Yaw day at the exposition, Frank G. Belcher, president of the world's fair, yesterday made public an open letter to citizens of Covina, home of the famous diva, which reads:

"I cordially invite townspeople of Covina to come to the California-Pacific International exposition Tuesday, August 20, occasion of special day on which to do her honor. We are very proud to pay homage to a lady who is well known to San Diego music lovers, and many of our citizens remember with pleasure her frequent fine performances at the San Diego exposition in 1915. Signed, 'FRANK G. BELCHER, President, California-Pacific International Exposition.' It is further announced that the Madame Yaw concerts will be free to the public and that capacity audiences are expected.

Shattering all previous record several of the departments have already been filled to their capacity, and arrangements are being made to care for the overflow. This is particularly true in the livestock and agricultural departments. Industries and machinery divisions are rapidly filling up, and all available space in the educational and household art section is spoken for. In the fine arts building it is a matter of selecting from the best of the number of entries that can be accommodated. From the standpoint of exhibits the fair will be by far the largest in its history.

"Taxes were indeed very heavy, and if those laid on by the government were the only ones we had to pay, we might more easily discharge them; but we have many others. We are taxed twice as much by the time we waste, three times as much by our pride, and four times as much by our folly."—Benjamin Franklin.

Practically every section of the country has been drawn upon to supply one or more of the seventy-five judges required to decide the winners in the various departments. These men are all experts in the respective lines and most of them are nationally known.

Sacred Heart Church Holds Barbecue at Rowland Ranch

The second annual barbecue of the Sacred Heart Catholic church, held Sunday at the Rowland ranch east of Puente, surpassed even the expectations of those who attended the affair last year, the dinner and service being all that had been promised by the women of the church, and in spite of the large crowd served, there was plenty for all.

Godfrey Andreas of Upland was in charge of the barbecue. Harry Shults was chairman of the committee in charge, assisted by Mrs. Blanche Crites, Mrs. Georgia Wolfinger, Mrs. Milton Burner, Mr. and Mrs. Ott, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. John Beirne, Miss Margaret Tillman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Main, George Zelinski, Mrs. Charles O'Hara, P. E. Conlon, R. Brunet, and Porter Kerckhoff.

Among those from Covina who furnished entertainment during the afternoon were Betty and Wallace Reed, Harva Lamphere, and Bud Drake. Professional talent also took part on the program.

Mrs. Mattie M. Mason is confined to her home on West Dexter street as the result of injuries received when alighting from a friend's automobile a couple of weeks ago. Mrs. Mason suffered a severe cut and bruise on her leg.

"Man always reaps whatever he sows." "Not always. You should see the crop of weeds growing where I sowed my flower seeds."

Echo Bowl Concert Features Singers and Orchestra

The orchestra at the concert held in Lark Ellen Echo bowl on Monday evening opened with a group of three numbers, one of which was the new work of Felix Mills, "Sequoia Gigantea," a majestic tone-picture finely interpreted. Possibly no orchestral selection at the Echo bowl has given the hearers higher pleasure than this.

In response to many requests, Lark Ellen repeated the great aria, "Ah, fors e lui," from Verdi's "Traviata," which she sang at the opening concert. "Better than ever" was the verdict at the close, and Madame Yaw added "Love and June," by Guy d'Hardelot, with whom she lived for some time when studying in London. After this the echo was invited to participate, and was never more clear in its responses.

Mr. Robinson brought the first part of the program to an end with the "Vorspiel," from "Lohengrin," and a sprightly "Danse" by Singaglia.

The second part introduced to this part of the valley two vocalists who made friends at once by their renditions of old favorites, Louise Wiley singing the "Berceuse" from Godard's "Jocelyn," and Elizabeth Wallace, whose contralto lent deep feeling, sang "Last Night," by Kjerulf, accompanied by harp. FASHION TIPS

by HELEN

Shades of the Renaissance! Not only shades but styles of that period are featured this fall, and we have purchased a few outstanding models for the beginning of the season.

Lightweight woollens, unusual crepes, angoras and velvets in black, oxford, brown, Kent and Indian green, and shades of red and purple, simply but flatteringly cut with good-looking metal, crystal or rhinestone clips, buttons, buckles predominate.

Our pride and joy is a copy of an imported frock in oxford grey angora with a boat neckline which stands up perkily, and under which appears a black and red plaid taffeta scarf, tying in a huge bow in front.

Stratosphere blue is a new version of purple and one model we have in silk crepe, with the new skirt fullness, is trimmed with silver striped taffeta cuffs and collar. The collar stands regally in back and frames the face at the sides and front of the neck.

Shirtmakers are again the smartest for dinner, cocktails or dancing, and we feature a stunning black satin model trimmed at the sleeves, around the hem and collar and down the front of the blouse with tiny pleating.

We have a delph blue satin which we just adore, with a strikingly permanently pleated sunburst skirt and glorious ruby-red sparkly buttons on the blouse. Just the frock to open the fall season in a large way.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. The Golden Text is from Leviticus: "I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people."

Among the Bible citations in the Lesson-Sermon are the verses about Jesus, from Mark: "And they bring unto him one that was deaf, and had an impediment in his speech; and they beseech him to put his hand upon him. . . . And looking up to heaven, he sighed, and saith unto him, Ephphatha, that is, Be opened. And straightaway his ears were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plain."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, includes the statements: "Mind alone possesses all faculties, perception, and comprehension. . . . It is there possible for the real senses of man to be injured, Soul could reproduce them in all their perfection; but they cannot be disturbed nor destroyed, since they exist in immortal Mind, not in matter."

Merchants Lose Game to Colton in Final Innings

After playing a nearly perfect first six innings, the Covina Merchants tonight lost in the seventh frame to drop a 7-5 decision to the Colton team in a league affair held on the city park diamond Friday night of last week.

Lionel Brown, hurling for Manager Wilson, kept pace with Bots, Colton ace, for the first part of the game, as the locals got six hits from the latter up to the seventh frame, while Brown allowed the visitors but five safeties for the same period of time.

Although Stock, Colton second baseman, hit a three-bagger in the opening half of the initial stanza, neither team scored until the latter half of the second, when the Wilsonmen put across the first tally of the fray. Singles by Kent Williams and Pete Benton were enough to send the former home with the lone run of the inning. Keeping the visitors scoreless until the sixth frame, the Merchants came back in their half of the fourth stanza to net two tallies. Babe Coltrin started the inning off with a double, and Kent Williams batted in third place and poked out a timely home run to bring in both runs.

The initial Colton score came as a result of two singles and a fielder's choice in the first half of the sixth inning. The Red Lions came back in the latter part of the next stanza to make their six-run rally as Morrell, Wilson's new and prospect from Long Beach, relieved Brown as hurler in the middle of the frame. A walk, a Covina error, two singles, and home runs by Bramlet and Ewiser, catcher and third baseman respectively for the Colton aggregation, were responsible for the six scores.

The last two tallies of the game were scored in the latter part of the ninth and final inning, as singles by Al Brown and K. Williams, and a three-bagger by Morrell, netted the locals their fourth and fifth runs.

Leading the Colton slugfest of 12 hits was R. Emery, center fielder, who poked out four singles in five times at bat. Topping the Merchants hit list again was Kent Williams, third sacker, who collected his triple and pair of singles in four trips to the plate.

Bots led the Covina hurlers in number of strikeouts by a 14-7 margin.

Morrell Subdues Riverside Team as Locals Win, 7-1

With Morrell, Granny Wilson's new addition to the Merchant night-ball hurling staff, and who hails from Long Beach, playing an outstanding nine innings at mound duty, the Covina team garnered its first victory in six tries from the powerful Riverside Rubes as it took a 7-1 decision in a league affair held on the local diamond Tuesday night.

The Wilsonmen were playing a nearly perfect brand of ball thruout, both at the plate and on the field. Nary an error was marked on the Covina score sheet as the locals gave Morrell all the support he needed. Fourteen safe hits were tallied for the Merchantmen while they faced the two Riverside twirlers.

The victory came as a surprise to most Merchant followers, for the Rubes held five straight wins over the locals prior to Tuesday night's fray. With the Merchant pitching staff thus routed, the Covina team are hoping to see the local team start climbing in the league standing in the next few games. Morrell is said to be one of the most experienced nightball players in southern California.

The Wilsonmen got an early lead which was never headed, although it was tied once. After holding the visitors scoreless in the opening half of the first inning, the locals came back to make three hits give them the initial run of the game in their half of the same frame. Gilhausen tallied the score after he singled, as both Al Brown and Kent Williams got doubles and Forney walked.

A home run by Baker, Riverside left fielder, gave the Rubes their one and only score of the game in the first half of the second stanza to knot the count at one all.

Scoreless in the second inning, the Merchants were back in the third frame to 3-2, gaining their lead, this time increasing it to a two-run margin. A single by Rosy Gilhausen, a sacrifice by Coltrin and a timely triple by Hal Forney netted the locals their second and third tallies of the contest.

Not satisfied with what seemed a safe lead of two runs, the Wilsonmen piled up another three scores in the latter half of the fourth stanza. Singles by H. Tallman, Morrell, Gilhausen, and a double by Al Brown were the hits responsible for bringing in the runs.

From the fourth frame both teams went scoreless until the last half of the eighth inning, when the Merchants were found tallying their seventh and final run as Morrell banged out a two-base hit and then scored as Al Brown singled.

Topping the Riverside bat list by grabbing the rest of the small total of five hits allowed the Rubes by Morrell, was Tucker, right fielder, who poked out two singles in five trips to the plate.

Leading the Wilson sluggers were Al Brown, first baseman, and Rosy Gilhausen, comical center gardener, each getting three safeties in five tries. Brown's hits consisted of a pair of two-base smashes and a single, while all three of Rosy's were bingles.

The combined efforts of Parsons and Heeman, both doing mound duty for the Rubes, retired nine Merchants via the strikeout route, while Morrell whiffed six opposing batters.

Paddocks Return From 8000-Mile Trip Thru East

Covering better than eight thousand miles in eight weeks, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Paddock, accompanied by their son, James, and daughter, Mrs. Ruth Smith, returned to their homes on Saturday from an interesting motor trip which took them as far east as New York.

Leaving Covina the travelers took the southern route to the Carlsbad Caverns and Hot Springs, Arkansas, then across the river to Memphis and Washington, D. C., where they spent three days in the capital, visiting many of the government buildings and sitting in the senate for a morning session.

From Washington they motored to Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York, took a trip up the Hudson to West Point, and then cut west thru New York state to Cattaraugus county, where they spent a few days in the homes of relatives of Mrs. Paddock. Other points included in the itinerary were Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Canada. Returning to Detroit, Mr. Paddock purchased a new Dodge car for the homeward trip.

Mr. Paddock states that in this district the crops were in better condition than any other area, although farming conditions, generally speaking, are taking a turn for the better.

In Indiana the party were guests of relatives. Brief stops were made in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado, and from the latter state traveled the Million Dollar highway. Rains thruout the entire trip made climatic conditions ideal for travel.

Shell Service Station Adopts New Idea to Attract Trade

Ted Hoogendyk, manager of the Shell service station at the corner of Citrus and Cottage, has been busy for the past two weeks explaining the meaning of the white stripes that are seen on the tires of Covina cars. It is a sort of trade mark, he says, showing that the cars have been serviced at the Shell station, where the tires are given a black coating and are then given two white stripes to touch them off and give them a neater appearance when they are on the road.

"It was started simply as a little additional Shell service," Ted told an Argus reporter Monday, "but it has turned out to be an excellent advertising idea."

Cagney-O'Brien in "The Irish in Us" at Fox-Pomona Sunday for Four Days

James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, the battling pals of "Here Comes the Navy" and "Devil Dogs of the Air," are seen again in "The Irish in Us," which Sunday opens a four-day engagement at the Fox theater, Pomona.

The story deals with three loving brothers—Pal, a policeman; James, a manager of punk fighters who do most of their fighting by shooting off their mouths; and Frank McHugh, a freeman. "The Irish in Us" is rated the finest and funniest comedy of the season and is chock full of action, comedy, thrills and romance.

Hard-of-Hearing Folk Provided Acousticones for Bowl Concert

The hard-of-hearing of Covina and vicinity were afforded a treat at the Lark Ellen bowl concert Monday evening, thru the courtesy of Mrs. Ellen Beach Yaw and J. F. Johnston, Los Angeles representative of the Dictograph Products company of New York. Sixty acousticones, installed for the evening, brought the delicate strains and beautiful harmonies of the orchestra and soloists to this group as distinctly as though unimpaired by deafness. Even the echo given by Madame Yaw could be heard.

The process was simple, a microphone installed near the conductor's desk, with wires running to each acousticon. This aid to the hard-of-hearing is becoming a part of many auditoriums and theaters, one hundred acousticones being permanently installed in the Mission Playhouse, San Gabriel.

Covina May Be Home of Future President of United States

Roland C. Casad, Covina rancher, has cast his hat in the ring as a candidate for president of the United States and has already entered an active campaign for the office, and according to his preliminary canvass he reports many assurances of support. Following is the announcement being sent to the press this week by Casad:

"In view of the fact that I am a candidate for the nomination of president of the United States, I wish you would associate my name with the following idea: To get rid of this depression we must have prosperity; to have prosperity we must have a larger and more general circulation of money. No better method can be had to furnish this than a worthwhile old-age pension, such as the Townsend plan.

"ROLAND C. CASAD, Covina, California."

Hundreds of products were on exhibition, showing the complete line of the Independent Grocers' Alliance. C. C. Fuller, proprietor of the grocery department at the Covina Central market, is the local representative of the IGA line.

Music in Religion Subject of Sermon

The union church service was held last Sunday evening in the Christian church, with Rev. V. C. Hayman of the Baptist church delivering the sermon. Although Mr. Hayman stated that he was called on, at a late date, to substitute for another, he gave an inspiring talk on the value of music in a Christian life. Different types of songs which aided in the strengthening of faith or inspiration were sung by the congregation, led by O. D. Brouse. Special trombone numbers were given by Mr. Hilton of the Christian church.

MUSICIAN FOR FILMS

George Plumstead of New York, a brother of Mrs. Whit Helms of Cypress avenue, who with his family has been vacationing in southern California, has accepted a position with the Fox Productions in Hollywood as staff musician and is engaged in the production featuring Eddie Cantor and Rubinooff and in Dick Powell's new production.
